

Holley Craddock
MSN, APRN, ACNP-BC
Electrophysiology Cardiology
James H. Quillen VA Medical Center
W: 423-926-1171 ext: 2453
C: 423-923-3124
holley.craddock@va.gov

Education:

Master of Science in Nursing, 2012, Vanderbilt University

Bachelor of Science in Nursing, 2008, King University

Biography:

Holley Craddock obtained her BSN in nursing in 2008 from King University. She worked as a cardiac intensive care unit RN for three years before returning to Vanderbilt University, where she received an MSN in nursing with a focus on the management of acute and chronic illnesses. She is board-certified through the ANCC as an acute care nurse practitioner. She practiced with Wellmont Ballad Health Cardiovascular Associates for seven years, focusing on electrophysiology. She is currently employed with the VA health system, providing electrophysiology-specific cardiac care to our nation's veterans. She has precepted many RN, NP, and PA students as a nurse practitioner. She also provides employment education at a local high school. She has served on the medical board of the local school system, providing insights into the needs for high school nursing classes.